3. FIB Development Camp

Discussion Points:

- Draft Requirements were reviewed and accepted as a working base.
- Locations discussed:
 - Uppsala
 - Mölndal
 - Stockholm ruled out due to high ice rental costs and lack of availability
- Teaching staff (Instructors): discussion on difficulty securing full-time instructors; potentially rotating coaches per session, as in the previous camp
- Suggested camp dates:
 - Second half of November 2025
 - First half of December 2025
 - January - March ruled out as too late in the season

Agreed action points:

- Janet Duke will draft an email to Group B national federations, including:
 - Estimation of participant numbers: separately for womens / mens and for players / coaches / referees
 - Preferred dates (select from 2 proposed options)
 - Provisional cost (~€250 per person for 3-day weekend)
 - Preliminary schedule

- Response deadline from federations: 15 August 2025
- Michael Bratt will submit a short written proposal from Mölndal, including logistical and cost information

4. Clean Sport Educator Course (ITA)

Mikhail Entaltsev shared information about the International Testing Agency (ITA) online course on anti-doping education for sports educators. EDC members are encouraged to review the material and consider participation. The registration deadline is 1 August 2025.

5. Any other business

- Summer Camps for Youth Players: Janet Duke is preparing a list of summer bandy camps in Sweden that are open to international participants (especially those who don't speak Swedish)
Goal: Provide easy global access to information about youth bandy summer camps for players and parents via the FIB website. The document will include camp formats, approximate costs, a contact person for each camp, and a general contact.
- Michael Bratt proposed structuring coach education into two phases:
 - An in-person seminar
 - Follow-up online modules

The aim is to establish consistent, high-quality coaching standards across nations.

Regular thematic Zoom sessions were also suggested as a tool for continued education and long-term development.

- Proposed two options for the next meeting:
 - Tuesday, 19 August 2025 at 14:00 CEST
 - Friday, 22 August 2025 at 14:00 CEST

Final date to be confirmed based on member availability.

6. Closing of the meeting
