

AIK – SOLNA (UTC +2)

AIK started playing bandy in the early 1900s. In 1905 other Stockholm teams with bandy on the program this year were IFK Stockholm, Djurgården, IF Swithiod, Djursholm and Hammarby. The teams played friendly matches against each other and had activities in smaller series. AIK has been playing in lower series for a number of decades. But the coming season AIK will play in the highest series, Elitserien.

SOLNA

Solna city is a municipality in Stockholm County, located just north of Stockholm's inner city. Central location is Solna. Solna is fully incorporated in the urban area of Stockholm. Solna is Sweden's third smallest municipality to the surface, with a land area of only 20 km². In terms of population, Solna is the 27th largest city in the country.

Solna is located in the southern parts of the province of Uppland. Solna Centrum, which was reached by the metro in 1975, was inaugurated in 1965 and rebuilt into a glazed multi-storey gallery from 1986 to 1990. Otherwise, the development consists mainly of detached apartment buildings, but there are also closed, more urban buildings. Within Solna is the Friends Arena, the National Stadium of football in Sweden and the castles Karlberg, Haga and Ulriksdal.

Population

Solna has a population of 81 473 inhabitants.

Arena?

A good question. It is not decided yet were AIK is going to play the games in Elitserien.

Last season

AIK went to Elitserien through qualifying games.

New players this season

Aleksandr Kim	Neftyanik
Kalle Lempinen	Kamparit
Patrik Nilsson	Bollnäs
Kevin Sterner	Tillberga
Dimitri Loginov	Vodnik
Alexey Chizhov	Bajkal Energy
Pavel Ryazantsev	Neftyanik
Ilari Moisala	OLS Uleåborg
Christian Frohm	Borlänge Bandy
Elias Engholm	Tellus, Stockholm
Filip Backström	Västanfors, Fagersta

Players who left

Rinat Shamsutov	Narukerä, Pori (Björneborg)
Robin Folkesson	Örebro
Janne Rintala	Västerås